find the 8

A first-of-its kind scavenger hunt on Snapchat that combined GPS, real-time data, and augmented reality.

"Prepare for a new kind of advertising to take over your city."

PST@MPANY

"Represents a new world of using AR for promotions or advertising."

Idea

To launch the new iPhone 8 on Verizon, we created an interactive gaming experience that challenged players to find hidden Snapchat lenses in their city for a chance to win a new iPhone.

How it worked

1. At the start of the game, players received clues that hinted at the lens' location and when it would be unlocked.

2. GPS directed them to the precise location, which was prepopulated with geo-fencing.

3. Players also had to show up at the right time. Real-time data, like weather reports, let us unlock the lens at precise moments.

4. Once players got to the right place at the right time, the lens revealed itself.

5. Players were encouraged to submit the most creative Snaps for a chance to win.

Results

31 minutes
Users spent an average of 31 minutes playing which is 5x the average engagement time on Snapchat (52s).

330,000 players
Over 5 days, thousands of people fanned out across eight cities nationwide in search of the 8.

3x sales
iPhone 8 sales in active markets outperformed comparable markets threefold.
